STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, JULY 16, 1897.

NO. 40

RELIGIOUS.

Louisville Methodists have purchased a district parsonage at a cost of $5,000.

Sunday will be children's day at Turnersville church and a pleasing program has been arranged.

The union service will be at the Baptist church Sunday night and Rev. J. T. Sharrard will preach.

Rev. George H. Turner will preach at Walnut Flat Saturday evening at 8, Sunday at 11 A. M. and 8 P. M.

By invitation Rev. J. B. Crouch will preach at the Christian church at Hubble next Sunday afternoon at 3 P. M.

A Richmond, Va., preacher denounced Gov. O'Farrell in a sermon for attending can-can shows, and created a sensation.

San Francisco papers sent us by Mr. A. W. Carpenter give glowing accounts of the great C. E. convention held there.

It is authoritatively stated that Dr. Whittitt will not resign the presidency of the Southern Theological Seminary. Let that be an end of it.

Rev. W. S. Grinstead will preach at McKendree church Saturday night and Sunday morning and night. Rev. Chas. H. Neal will fill the pulpit here.

An ancient tablet of the second century has been excavated in Egypt that contains eight sayings of Christ. It will arouse extraordinary interest.

The Christian Endeavorers will meet next year at Nashville and in London, England, in 1900. There were 23,918 delegates at the San Francisco meeting.

Revs. Grinstead and Neal, assisted by other young preachers, will begin a meeting this evening at 8 o'clock in a large tent in Hustonville. The tent will accommodate about 1,000 people.

Rev. John J. James, a prominent minister and brother of U. S. Marshall James, became suddenly insane at Henderson. He thinks he has killed two men and that the officers are after him.

Dr. McGarvey's lecture on "Mistakes in the Bible" does not draw like Ingersoll's on "The Mistakes of Moses." At Lebanon the doctor appeared after advertisement, but the audience was non est.

The Rev. M. P. Hunt was ordered from the office of the chief of police by Chief Taylor at Louisville. Mr. Hunt had repeated in a sermon a published statement about the police force, which Gen. Taylor denounced as a lie.

A protracted meeting will commence in the Baptist church at Preachersville Sunday next. Pastor R. B. Mahony will be assisted by Dr. J. H. Boyett, of Lexington, who is a fine preacher and who held a very successful meeting in Stanford two years ago.

Father Teipel, of Chattanooga, who forgot his vows, fell in love and married, is now doing penance for the sin with the monks at Gethsemane. The rules are very rigid and he must endure the punishment the rest of his life or until the church sees fit to restore him to the clergy.

Hubble.

W. S. Tamey bought a family mare of Taylor House for $55.

Old Aunt Anna Wade presented Hayden Grider with a fine boy Wednesday morning.

The supper for the benefit of the Christian church here Tuesday night was a success to the amount of $47. Everybody had plenty to eat and to spare.

Dr. Herring and Dr. Bush met in consultation Tuesday and report Mrs. Jos. Rogers critically ill of consumption. Mrs. Steele Minor, of Louisville, is the guest of her son, Ed Minor. She and her friends who accompany her, drove through in a carriage in two days. Dave Pardon is going to Rowland to take charge of a barber shop. We wish him success, as he is a good citizen. Hiram Doolin and family, of Pulaski, are visiting T. C. Rankin and wife.

Everybody has stacked his wheat and will not thresh till the price advances, which now seems favorable. Some regret they have no granaries to put it in when threshed, to hold it for still better price. But this is no reason why you should sell before you get the best market, as farmers had two crops last year in the same stack yard at the same time and the old crop was in as fine shape as the new and sold for as much money, 80c per bushel, while the year before it would have only sold for 50c. So this shows wheat can be kept successfully without large granaries.

Gov. Bradley has refused for the third time to pardon Dr. W. T. Davis, of Woodford, serving a life sentence on the charge of poisoning with intent to secure life insurance. Convicts evidently do not believe that the governor's "no" means "no."

Kansas City woman condemned to the rock pile are forced to don skirts that reach only to their knees and the women clubs of the city are raising a racket over this useless exposure of a pretty portion of the female anatomy.

Mrs. Henrietta Norris, aged 118, died at Baltimore Tuesday.

LANCASTER.

Mr. Montie Fox shipped 18 head of export cattle, weighing 1,400 pounds last Monday, which he had sold at 41c.

Dr. Harry W. Barg, the optician, will be with J. C. Thompson during the fair, July 16 and 17, and one or two days after. Call and have spectacles adjusted to your eyes.

Mrs. J. I. Hamilton applied for $80, which she had placed in a building and loan association about one year ago and received the glad tidings that she would receive $70. This is encouraging.

About 60 stalls have been engaged at our stables for stock from other sections that will be put on exhibition for the valuable premiums which are offered and the occasion promises to be a grander success than was anticipated, even by its most ardent projectors.

A gross inconsistency is manifested by some of our best and most intelligent democrats who say that they will not support certain candidates because they do not agree with them on some issue, or because they fear that they voted against the nominees in November. Such men will surely not bolt the ticket, when they censure others for doing the same thing. This would be playing the part of dupes by endorsing the action of the bolter in casting their own votes. There would then be no excuse for criticising any one for voting for Palmer and Buckner, or any one else.

Already visitors from different sections of the State are gathering in our beautiful little city to attend our fair. Individual mention is impossible and I am contented by giving to them a hearty welcome in behalf of our people, who are doing all that can be done to make their visit pleasant and enjoyable. Saxton's famous band will dispense music to enhance the enjoyment in beholding the various attractions. An entertainment will be given at Judge W. E. Walker's handsome suburban residence on Friday night, in honor of visiting friends.

The meetings of Rev. Geo. O. Barnes are being well attended and the public is deeply interested. The trouble with a few is that they do not attend regularly. His sermons seem to depend one upon another, in a way that they must all be heard to be appreciated and properly understood. By taking medicine one day and omitting it the succeeding day, a cure can not be effected, when a regular treatment is intended. You had better study arithmetic before you begin algebra. The tender plant can not thrive on one day of sunshine and six days of darkness. Attend the meetings regularly and let the light fall upon you.

Miss Lillie McClary visited Mrs. G. T. Farris this week. M. F. Elkin was in our city on Tuesday. Misses Lizzie Elkin and Louise Embry, of Louisville, are guests of Miss Honeywood Huffman. Capt. F. J. White and Mr. D. M. Lackey are on the sick list. Messrs. B. F. Hudson and J. M. Higginbotham attended the boltocratic convention at Louisville on Wednesday. Elder Geo. Gowen will not fill his pulpit on Sunday, as he is taking a vacation. Miss Hackney, of London, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Richard Ward. Misses Mary and Dorie Letcher, of Cincinnati, are spending the week with Mrs. Ellen Owsley. Capt. W. J. and A. M. Kinnaid, of Middlesboro, are here to attend the fair.

While I favor rotation in office I realize the folly of retiring a true and tried officer after the expiration of his first term. Such an act is equivalent to turning out the old family horse and taking up a green horse that will shy, run, kick and demolish everything in sight. Safe horses, like safe officials, are at a premium and when your life, liberty and property are likely to be involved, you had better look well to the man who sits in judgment upon them. This should be done as a matter of policy. Again, common decency and courtesy, as well as a well established custom, demand the re-election of a faithful officer, at least to a second term, as an approval or endorsement of his official acts. No minor or personal consideration should interfere to prevent this course. These statements suggest the re-election of Judge M. C. Sauley and Hon. J. S. Owsley, Jr. Their official acts and peculiar fitness for the offices which they seek, together with their superior qualifications and undoubted integrity are known throughout the district and they are worthy of the united support of the democratic party and all other good citizens, who desire a fair and impartial administration of justice.

Miss Grace Stevenson, a Boston heiress, who left home a few months ago on account of domestic troubles, was located in Lexington by a reporter for The Louisville Dispatch.

Neal Hammond, of Ritchie county, W. Va., has lost his mind as the result of the excitement attendant to the initiatory exercises of a secret order which he joined.

In a fight at Middlesboro over a woman, James Stewart fatally stabbed W. S. Thompson and skipped.

It was a mistake about the Jellico miners being destitute. They deny that there is any suffering among them.

A conveyance containing the family of Samuel Hicks got beyond his control while descending Pinnacle Mountain at Cumberland Gap, and a runaway followed in which his little child was dashed out against the rocks and instantly killed.

According to a dispatch Dr. F. A. Taylor and James Aey have been at it again. Last July in Casey they shot at each other because of Taylor's alleged intimacy with Aey's wife and the other day they tried it again at Mintonville. Taylor fired two shots and Aey six, shooting wild of the mark each time.

A letter from Ozark, Ark., gives the particulars of the death of Eugene Kelley, notice of which we have already made. He died of congestion of the bowels and kidneys after being ill 18 days, aged 46 years. He was married twice, first to Miss M. E. Young in 1872, who lived five years and bore him two children, who are still living. His last wife was Mrs. Mattie Cullip, who is a daughter of the late Rev. Elisha Dungan, of Pulaski, and to her he gave assurance of a blissful hereafter. He had been a member of the Christian church for 28 years.

Judge Ragan in an address in Nashville, denied that at the Hampton Roads conference Mr. Lincoln offered to pay $400,000,000 to the owners of slaves in the South, as the price of peace, and he further denied that Mr. Lincoln said to Mr. Stephens or to any one else that if the Southern commissioner would write "union" at the top of a sheet of paper he would allow them to write whatever they pleased under that word.

It is said that Libby Prison, which was removed from Richmond, Va., to Chicago during the exposition year and set up as a show, has ceased to be profitable in that form and is about to be turned to use as a warehouse, the purpose it served before it was used to hold Federal prisoners.

The father of Dr. Richmond Corn wall, of St. Louis, has published a statement that the doctor, who is under a $10,000 bond for killing his brother, also murdered his mother a short while before slaying his brother. While other cities are fearing a coal famine in consequence of the miners' strike, Louisville has an abundant supply and is shipping coal to Northern cities. Should no more be received the supply is sufficient till November.

Dr. James Riffe, health officer of Covington, and his family are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse P. Riffe. Mr. W. M. Bogle, of New Orleans, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Chice Bogle.

Mr. Aus Thompson, the veteran merchant and farmer of Casey, has 10,000 bushels of blackberries on his farm, free to all who will pick them. Berries of an extra quality are being sold in our market at 15c per water bucket and some sales have been made at 12½ cents.

Fred Miller, the tramp of the N. Y. Police Gazette, en route from New York to El Paso and return by Dec. 1, on a wager of $1,000, passed through here Saturday at 10 A. M. He stayed about one hour exhibiting his credentials and obtaining signatures of prominent business men and then left for Somerset. He expects to reach El Paso by Sept. 1.

Mrs. Helen Huffman has moved into her beautiful new residence on Danville Ave., lately completed by the "lightning contractor." The job was accepted without a word, as there had been much work done that was not in the contract. Dick has a $6,000 contract now being built and is figuring on two others smaller. He builds your house while you wait.

Rev. W. S. Grinstead, of your city, not being able to secure a church here in which to hold a revival, has gotten a large tent. He with several assistants will begin a protracted camp meeting here in his Gospel tent Friday night. We are sure much good will result from this meeting, for certainly "the harvest is white and ready for the gleaner."

A substantial republican of this locality was asked what he thought about the present general situation and condition of business. The suggestion seemed to have touched the key note of his invigorated vitality. He said "confidentially" that he believed it was actually growing worse and that he had lost confidence in the ability of the administration and our Congressman to fulfill their promises of an early return to our former prosperous condition, under the single gold standard. He had believed the strong boasts of his party of early prosperity, despite the money scarcity, but that flame of confidence had been entirely extinguished by the utter failure of the great financial managers of the administration to fulfill their sacred promise. He has been a hard worker for his party for 35 years, but says he will vote for no party or man not favoring bimetalism and that "there are others" in his party who will not talk but act in the same way at the proper time.

John Burgman, of Findlay, O., caught his eloping wife and made her walk seven miles to the depot. She then took the train and went home with him.

Will Taylor, of Montpelier, O., killed himself because at the wedding his prospective bride flatly refused to say "yes" to the questions the minister propounded.

It is thought at Corbin that James Ford, of that place, who married a Miss Rains a few years ago, and got a divorce, has run off with her. Both had married again.

Since the present State librarian got a husband by going to Frankfort, candidates for that office are springing up all over the State. Miss Nanci Lee Neal, of Anderson, being the latest to announce.

A New York millionaire has just bought for his daughter an English Duke, for which he paid only $10,000,000. In McKinley times of prosperity a duke ought to command a few dollars more than that.

J. N. Daniel shipped one bale of the new crop of cotton from Williamsburg, Ga., July 14th. It weighed 565 pounds and was the first bale shipped from that State this season.

A Word To You.

Having considered the question from almost every standpoint, we have decided to adopt the

THE CASH SYSTEM,

Beginning July 1, 1897, believing that it will be more satisfactory to both buyer and seller. No bad debts will accumulate, consequently we can sell goods cheaper. It will take much less capital, our expenses will be less and there is every reason why the cash system will prove satisfactory. We only ask you to try it awhile and if you find it is not to your advantage, we will not kick on your buying from merchants who sell on credit. We are satisfied we can sell you goods from 10 to 25 per cent. cheaper than the credit men and this should certainly be an inducement to you. Very truly,

THE boltoeratic convention at Louisville was a slimly attended affair, except by Louisville people, who went out of curiosity. The majority of those who took part are men whose political prestige is only in the past and who have no future in that line. Many of them are men of intellect, however, but each had a grievance for being turned down from their high place as leaders and prefer to dwell in the tents of wickedness to being a door keeper in the house of the regular democracy. There was absolutely no reason or excuse for this little convention, except that the "generals" appear to want to get the factions of the party wider apart and put more republicans in office.

There is no question of the Times' statement that it was an aggregation of brains, for there were some massive intellects in the gathering, but their owners are using them for a poor purpose. They betrayed the party last year and got suckers to vote for their decoy ticket, made up of those political back numbers, Palmer and Buckner, while most of them went square over to the enemy. The same trick can not be worked again. Honest democrats are on to their racket and won't be caught by chaff any more. They will vote the straight democratic ticket, which scorns to even consider a fusion, with their hated enemy, the republican party. Buckner, Carlisle, Lindsay and Watterson, were once a big quartet, but they no longer wield the influence they once did and they may congregate, orate and try to dictate from now till doomsday, but the rank and file will heed them not. They promised them bread, if they would help to defeat Bryan. They gave them a stone after Bryan was defeated and for better times under McKinley they get harder luck and higher taxes. They can not fool even fools but once and Kentucky democrats will show them a thing or two next time that they have never learned in their philosophy.

EDITOR ROBERTS, who has landed a fat office, takes occasion to print several columns of stuff to show that Senator Deboe is doing as well as any man could do under the circumstances, while Editor Forrester, of the Frankfort Capital, says: "If Kentucky, instead of sending Deboe to Washington, had shipped a 250-pound barrel of salt pork with a proxy addressed to Mark Hanna, tacked on the head, she would be quite as well represented in the U. S. Senate as she is at present." Doctors have disagreed in all ages, but these widely divergent views of editors in the same party, discussing the first republican Senator that that party ever had in Kentucky, show that it makes a great deal of difference how a man looks at a thing and whether he is an in or an out. But that the Frankfort man has properly diagnosed the case there is little doubt. Leastwise nine-tenths of the people of Kentucky are satisfied that Deboe is the worst accident that ever befel the State.

A LOT of impatient and aspiring young fellows got Gov. McCreary to consent to retire from the field he had labored in for years and to which his constituents delighted to send him. The result was that the district was not only lost to the democrats, but was won by an ignorant individual, who hasn't an idea above setting up a political skin game and getting his henchmen appointed to post-offices. Gov. McCreary can redeem the district and is probably the only man who can, yet short horses are bobbing up to confuse matters and possibly prevent the governor from running again. These men should think a little. It is flattering, doubtless, to their vanity to be talked of for Congress, but what we want to do next time, is to nominate and elect a man who can win. That man is Gov. James Bennett McCreary, and here's hoping that he will see his way clear to respond to the people's call again.

It did not take much of a somersault for old man Dana to land in the republican party. He was never sound on the tariff and being a democrat for revenue only has not been probably since the New York World and the Journal have put the light out of his Sun.

SINCE "Quinine Jim" McKenzie has joined the boltoerats, there are democrats who are crying now because they cried when the Louisville Times printed the story that he had gone dead.

THE election of the nominee of today's convention would be no stranger than the defeat of Hardin two years ago or than McKinley's capture of twelve-thirteenths of Kentucky's electoral vote last November, quoths the Louisville Times in a moment of assumed enthusiasm. Nay, nay, you arch boltoerat; you may fool all the people some of the time and some of the people all the time, but you can't fool all of the people all the time and they will show you that your man does now and will hereafter stand no more show than a snow ball does in hades.

IN answer to a categorical question of its statement that "a large number of party men who acted with the silverites last year have seen the error of their way and returned to the fold of true democracy," the Louisville Times could only name ex-Congressman J. K. Hendrick, of the first district, who is still sore over the way he was thrown down by his constituents for Wheeler last year. But even this solitary individual over whom so much has been made by the Courier-Journal and Times did not have the gall to attend the convention.

A MOMENT later Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge entered the hall. No sooner was his white head recognized than the assembled delegates broke loose with tremendous cheering, says a Times report of the boltoeratic convention. This certainly can not be the same Billy Breckinridge that the Times used to berate so viciously. Things certainly have changed since the death of Elizabeth, when the pure and godly can take the man to their bosom so fondly, who but a short time ago found none so lowly as to do him honor.

WHILE some of us voted for McKinley at the last election, say the Barren county boltoerats in their resolutions, preferring the lesser of the two evils, nevertheless we still adhere to the principles of Jeffersonian democracy, as supported by Jackson. They look at beautiful way to show their love of those principles, to be sure. A vote for McKinley was a vote for everything that democracy opposed, and can be atoned for only in sackcloth and ashes before the voter is fit to sit at a democratic table again.

HON. R. C. FORD, of Middlesboro, it is said, will try for the democratic nomination for State treasurer again. He has superior qualifications for the office, is a most deserving democrat, and made a great race for the office before. The people wanted a change in party administrations, however, that year and they got it like the old woman kept tavern in Texas, so Ford and the rest of the democratic ticket went down.

A GLANCE at the last Richmond Climax is sufficient to make the editor of this paper think he is some pumpkins, if he hadn't long ago discovered that he was a vegetable of another variety. Bro. Woods overwhelms us with evidences of his admiration and esteem but we thank him all the same very sincerely and assure him of our heartfelt reciprocation.

THE Courier-Journal, in expatiating on the character of the "generals" who are willing to serve in the ranks for the sake of the cause, forgets that that is all the "generals" can do at present. It is simply making a virtue out of a necessity. It is that or nothing. The holding of office and acting as leaders has become a lost art with them.

PARAGRAPHERS are having much fun out of the fact that the prohibition candidate in Pennsylvania is named Swallow, though the reason of their levity is not apparent. Mr. Swallow doesn't have to swallow whisky unless he wants to and one swallow would no more make a drunk than it would a summer.

THE Courier-Journal devoted several pages yesterday to exploiting its convention and tickling little fellows by publishing interviews with them. But the C.-J. can't fool anybody any more. Its word is not taken at the same value once placed upon it.

THE republican papers are tickling the boltoerats and calling them the bully boys with the glass eye. They know that the whole lay out is playing into their hands. Even Gov. Bradley, the dispatches assure us, has only kind words for them.

ONE thing can be said for the boltoeratic convention. It opposed fusion with the republicans, thereby showing that if some of the delegates were lost to all sense of shame, the majority of them were not.

MR. CLEVELAND is slacking up in his duty. If he sent any communication to the boltoeratic convention it miscarried like Mr. Watterson's celebrated letter to David B. Hill.

AUDITOR STONE says that bank stock must be assessed at its book value instead of its selling value, which is another dig at the institutions, which promise to be taxed to death.

UNDER the new management of Willett & Brown the Marion Falcon is losing golden opinions. Its editorial page fairly corruscates with good things.

BOLTOERATS IN CONVENTION.

A man handicapped by the plebian-patronymic of Sims presided over the boltoeratic convention temporarily, while the Hon. John G. Carlisle, of New York, held the concern down in its permanent shape. Judge R. P. Jacobs on resolutions, Little Billy Stephenson on organization, J. Ad Middleton on credentials represented the Eighth district on the committees, while that perennial old fraud, Yoder Poyard, was tickled with the honor of being vice-president.

Sims spoke, Carlisle spoke, Lindsay spoke, Watterson spoke, Billy Breckinridge spoke, Carroll also spoke, and every other son-of-a-gun who could get in a word, spoke. It was a speaking concern from beginning to end. But one or two of the short horses mentioned for appellate clerk was put in nomination, and he was withdrawn to make that of J. R. Hindman, of Adair, unanimous. He was a Federal soldier and was put in nomination by Gen. Buckner, a Confederate soldier, but this stage play will avail nothing, except to make democrats sorry they ever voted for either and more determined to elect Shackelford.

The platform re-affirms the Indianapolis declarations, by endorsing a tariff for revenue only, the gold standard and the civil service law. It denounces the free and unlimited coinage of silver as dangerous to public welfare and private interests, endorses the administrations of Cleveland and Carlisle and denounces all forms of lawlessness, including turnpike and other mobs. It only took the convention one afternoon and evening to get through with its cut and dried program.

Henry Watterson, C. J. Helm, W. C. P. Breckinridge and Wm. Lindsay were the members of the committee on resolutions from the State-at-large.

POLITICS

T. M. Thatcher, of Somerset, is an applicant for assistant mine inspector.

The Louisville Dispatch says all the generals were there, except General Prosperity.

Deboe is talking about holding people responsible for what they are saying or doing. The Hon. W. J. Willmore reports him as saying that "Bradley has never had a man to fight before." Mr. Willmore says that Deboe threatens to "make war on everybody who had anything to do with Franks' defeat." Well, well! The editor of the Capital is the easiest

 BAD LUCK.—Mr. J. F. Pettus, of the Preachersville section, tells us that he is playing in hard luck, having had a valuable mare killed by lightning and a number of sheep killed by dogs within a few days. *
 THE Odd Fellows have put down a much needed pavement in front of the old Commercial and the Farmers Bank and W. P. Walton will do likewise. The pavements here generally would disgrace even a hamlet. *
 FOUND IT.—Mr. W. A. Tribble found the $12 in his underwear which he advertised as lost in our last issue. In attempting to put the money in the watch pocket of his pantaloons he made a miscue and stuck it between the waist of his pantaloons and his underwear. *
 THE fall of the mercury from 100 to 55 in a day or two is as remarkable as it is pleasant, even if it is not so good for the crops. At noon yesterday the thermometer showed 75. Local showers for last afternoon and night and probably fair Friday, is the current prediction. *
 A LARGE barn on Mrs. Lucinda Tribble's farm on the Danville pike burned early Wednesday morning, together with 25 loads of hay, which had recently been stored in it. It is not known how the fire originated. There was no insurance on either the building or its contents. *
 THE secretary, Dr. W. B. O'Bannon, tells us that the meeting of the Lincoln County Medical Society at McKinney Tuesday was one of the most interesting that has been held. There was a large attendance and all of the papers were liberally discussed. Dr. J. S. Wesley, who was essayist, read a splendid paper on the "Cause, Prevention and Treatment of Summer Diarrhea of Children." Dr. Lowder read one on "Sunshine and Shadows of a Physicians Life." and Dr. J. T. Wesley one on "Puerperal Eclampsia." The next meeting will be held at Hustonville on the second Tuesday in September. *
 FIGHTING THE DEVIL WITH FIRE.—There was a shooting bee near Neals Creek church Tuesday night, but if any of the participants were hit by the bullets it hasn't yet been made public. For several nights during Rev. Neal's meeting several youngsters from the Flat Lick section have been amusing themselves by shooting off their pistols when the crowd was dispersing. Patience ceased to be a virtue with the good people who attend the church and Tuesday night when the young scamps began firing a party headed by Dink Farmer returned the compliment and the way the Flat Lick boys left the scene was amusing. Mr. Farmer tells us that he shot to scare but some younger members of his crowd meant business and it is a wonder somebody was not killed. The members of the church are determined to break up this disorder and somebody is going to get hurt if a halt is not called. *
 MATRIMONIAL MISFIT.—A month ago we made mention of the arrival of Mrs. S. Landy from the old country and stated in connection that her husband, who had not seen her for four years, was the happiest man in the country. The happiness did not last long, however, and now a divorce is wanted by the wife and the husband doesn't care if she gets it. It seems that Mr. Landy, who was until recently a member of the milling firm of Fred & Landy, did not provide as his wife thought he should and she summoned her brothers, one living at Frankfort and the other in Anderson county, and after a conference decided that she did not care to longer call him her husband. No divorce proceedings have been filed yet but a friend of Landy tells us that it is only a question of time till such proceedings will begin. In the meantime Mrs. Landy is staying with her brother at Frankfort, while her husband is patiently awaiting developments. Mr. Landy is a clever, hard working man and it is hard to believe that he is guilty of failing to provide for his family. *
 R. L. Goode, of Rowland, aged 20, and Miss Nora J. Woolford, of Boyle county, were married here yesterday.

HIGGINS & McKINNEY are furnishing Acme cement plaster for Dr. L. B. Cook's new residence and making the finest work of the kind ever done in Stanford.

The large brick building at Crab Orchard Springs came near going up in flames the other night. It caught in the kitchen and for a time there appeared no chance of saving the building, but the hard work of the bucket brigade nipped it before a very large damage was done. The repairs were made next day and Manager Hofmann is now running things like nothing had happened.

McKinney, Ky., Apr. 22, '97.

MESSES. HIGGINS & McKINNEY—Dear Sirs—I purchased one of your Superior Disc Drills in the Fall of 1896 and sowed 100 acres of wheat with it. I found it to be one of the best machines I ever used. It is far superior to all other drills. I would not undertake to sow a crop without one, for there is no choking up and getting out of order with them. They do their work perfectly and with light draft. The grass seeder is also a great improvement over other drills, for the grass seeder attachment can be used without using the wheat attachment. I recently sold a half interest to my neighbor, J. A. Givens, and he has been sowing oats and grass seed with it and is so well pleased with it that he carries it to shelter every night.

Yours truly, J. L. BECK.

Superior Disc Drill.

McKinney, Ky., Apr. 22, '97.
 MESSES. HIGGINS & McKINNEY—Dear Sirs—I purchased one of your Superior Disc Drills in the Fall of 1896 and sowed 100 acres of wheat with it. I found it to be one of the best machines I ever used. It is far superior to all other drills. I would not undertake to sow a crop without one, for there is no choking up and getting out of order with them. They do their work perfectly and with light draft. The grass seeder is also a great improvement over other drills, for the grass seeder attachment can be used without using the wheat attachment. I recently sold a half interest to my neighbor, J. A. Givens, and he has been sowing oats and grass seed with it and is so well pleased with it that he carries it to shelter every night.

Yours truly, J. L. BECK.

MADISON INSTITUTE is under the care and control of a board of twelve Trustees, consisting of the strongest and best men in Madison county. They are men eminent alike for their position in social, political, educational and business circles. It is vouchsafed to few schools to have the guidance and protection of such a board. Many of them are well known all over their State, and their presence on the board ought to be a guarantee of its excellence.

Madison Institute

Is located in Richmond, Kentucky, the county seat of the large and wealthy county of Madison. Richmond is a town of about 6,500 inhabitants, and is noted for its wealth, culture and refinement. It is in the famous Blue Grass Region of Kentucky, near the foot of the hills of the Cumberland Mountains and has an altitude of five hundred feet above the level of the Ohio river. It is remarkably healthful, being free from malaria, and it enjoys on that account an enviable reputation. In winter the climate is invigorating and bracing and conducive to the greatest mental and physical activity; while in the summer the elevation insures cool nights, so indispensable to comfort and rest.

Richmond is situated on the Kentucky Central Railway, which connects Cincinnati with the South by way of Knoxville, Tennessee; it has six daily trains. It is also connected with the Cincinnati Southern and the Louisville Southern, by the R. N. I. & B., with two through trains to Louisville each day. It is very accessible to all parts of the country.

The school was founded in 1856, and, with slight interruption during the war, has been in operation until now. It has contributed its quota to the educated wives and mothers of our country, and now in the second generation, with increased facilities, is doing a better work for their daughters.

The Institute

Is situated upon a hill overlooking the town. The grounds consist of fourteen acres, well divided into lawns, tennis courts and gardens. These advantages of space and location place the minimum of restriction upon the students. While within a few minutes' walk of churches and the business part of town, the Institute has all the privacy of a country home.

The freedom of outdoor exercise is highly prized by the students and is an incalculable factor in preserving health.

SECOND YEAR.

Grammar (finished), Chardenal, Rapid Reading—Nineteenth Century prose, Dictation, Composition and Conversation, Review of Grammar—Text-book in French.

THIRD YEAR.

Classical Literature, History of Literature, Study of Idioms.

The time has come when all progressive schools must assign to the study of Modern Language a prominent place. Each year brings us into a more intimate relationship with our trans-atlantic neighbors.

The libraries of our universities are crowded with French and German authors, and as translation does not keep pace with production, we must read them in the original or be cheated out of a great amount of literary enjoyment and scientific knowledge.

In fact a student is not admitted to graduate work in the higher universities until he has a fair knowledge of French and German. There is no study better fitted to develop the memory, sense of accuracy and delicate discrimination, than that of language. The student is helped to a better understanding of his own language; to a broader range of ideas and expression; he will understand better the structure of the English sentence and the real meaning of English words.

A course has been selected with a view to thorough instruction in grammatical forms, translation, literature and conversation.

Department of Latin Language.

FIRST YEAR.

Jones' First Lessons, Allen and Greenough's Grammar.

SECOND YEAR.

Cæsar's Gallic Wars, four books, Jones' Composition.

THIRD YEAR.

Cicero, seven orations, Jones' Composition.

FOURTH YEAR.

Virgil, Æneid, six books.

FIFTH YEAR.

Horace, Odes and Satires, Tacitus' Germania and Agricola.

So important is the study of Latin, it has been given a place in each of the three courses. The student in the Modern Language Course will accomplish as much in her French in two years, having had two years work in Latin, as she would accomplish in three years without the Latin. We require also three years of Latin in the English Course, as a knowledge of Latin aids so largely in the proper understanding of English.

Department of Natural Science.

FIRST YEAR.

Anatomy and Physiology.

SECOND YEAR.

Botany.

THIRD YEAR.

Physics, with Experiments.

FOURTH YEAR.

Physical Geography.

FIFTH YEAR.

SECOND YEAR.

Mediaeval History—Emerton's Introduction to the study of the Middle Ages with collateral reading.

This course puts the student in possession of an outline of Mediaeval and early modern history to the treaty of Westphalia. Special study is given to the peculiar organizations of the times, the Roman Church, the Holy Roman Empire, the Guilds, the Commune and the Feudal System.

Modern History—France and England. Text—Montgomery. Collateral reading with class lectures on the Protestant Reformation, the French Revolution, the progress of constitutional government in Europe.

THIRD YEAR.

Intensive study of Middle Ages.

The Third Year (Junior Year) will be devoted to a careful study of the Middle Ages, from the decline of Rome and the dissolution of the ancient classical civilization to the attempted reorganization of barbarian society under Roman forms. The course is to be taught by lecture.

The pupil's reading will be based upon the following:

Fisher's Outlines.
Gibbon's Decline and Fall.
Hodgkin's Italy and her Invaders.
Emerton's Introduction to the Middle Ages.
Greene, "The Making of England."
Charles Kingsley, The Roman and the Teuton.
Milman's History of Latin Christianity.
Gregory of Tours, History of France.
Guizot's History of France.
Tacitus' Germania.
Cæsar's Gallic Wars.
Macaulay's Essay on History.
Mombert, Cutts and Kitchen.

FOURTH YEAR.

United States History, Montgomery's History of the United States. In addition to the text-book, lectures will be given on the constitutional development of the United States. Such sources and records as traditions, manuscript papers, relics and relevant literature will be placed in the hands of the students that they may be trained to form for themselves independent and unbiased judgments.

Current Topics.

For a half hour every evening, a member of the Faculty will meet the students of the Boarding Department in the Library for the discussion of current topics. There can be no better opportunity offered the student than to be brought into contact with the issues of life about us. The object of this class is to arouse interest in the leading questions of the day, and to enable the student to look at the present in the light of history. The weekly paper, Public Opinion, which is composed entirely of clippings from leading papers and magazines of the country, will be used as a basis of class work. In this way students are encouraged to use their faculties in interpreting history which is daily in making around them, and while studying of other ages to keep abreast with their own.

History of Art.

The work of arts of other peoples and of other ages as they exist to-day are the most eloquent memorials we possess of the lives and experiences of men in the past. If it is worth while for young people to study history at all, we cannot afford to confine them to the words of chronicler and poet when temples and cathedrals, statues, pictures have tales to tell of the thoughts and feelings of those peoples and times.

The course in history of art is intended to supplement in this way the courses in general history. It will be conducted in class room recitation, and lectures with lime-light illustration.

Department of The Bible.

FIRST YEAR.

Jewish Scriptures.

SECOND YEAR.

History of the Gospels.

Department of Philosophy.

Mental Philosophy, Moral Philosophy, Logic and Political Economy.

Diplomas.

Three courses of study have been arranged; Latin-Scientific, the Modern Language and the English.

When a young lady has completed satisfactorily any one of the three prescribed courses, she will be granted the Diploma of the Institute.

When a young lady has completed, in a satisfactory manner the prescribed course in any one of the first six departments, she may receive a certificate.

Candidates For Admission.

Candidates for admission to Junior or Senior Classes must present certificates of having satisfactorily completed the studies requisite for entrance to these institutions.

Course Preparatory For Higher Colleges.

For the benefit of those students who contemplate pursuing their education in higher colleges, a course has been arranged which prepares for entrance to these institutions.

DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC.

PIANO.

SUSAN BALDWIN WALKER,
SIGNOR D'ANNA,
BELLE McLEOD LEWIS, } INSTRUCTORS.

The Music Faculty at Madison Institute is not second to that of any school. As superior instructions may be had here as can be found anywhere. Our courses are the same as those of the best conservatories. The Music Faculty is thoroughly in touch with the music world and inspire their pupils with its spirit. No department of the school has had more successful results.

RECITALS.

Fortnightly recitals will be given by the music class at which only pupils, their parents and teachers will be present. These recitals are quite as much a means of instruction as the regular lesson, and no pupil will be excused from attending.

PUBLIC RECITALS.

Three public recitals will be given, to which the pupils and Faculty will have pleasure in inviting their friends.

Art Department.

The Art Department will be under the direction of Miss Eleanor Martin, a lady of wide culture in art and a teacher of large experience. Miss Martin is familiar with the methods used in the highest schools of Art in America. A thorough knowledge of drawing is requisite for the pursuit of any advanced course of art. All students are recommended to give themselves the advantage of this foundation before choosing a more advanced course.

Talent will be carefully directed in the course indicated by taste and preference. We hope to consider art seriously, not as a pastime only, but as a calling worthy of the greatest ambition and enthusiasm. The course will be as far as practicable, as follows:

Drawing from block and cast. Perspective.
Sketching—Outdoor and from life.
Crayon portraiture.
Decorative painting in oil and water color.
China decoration.
Pastel.

Elocution.

Good Elocution is the natural and correct expression of thought. This becomes, therefore, a most important branch of Literary Culture. We mean by Elocution, not simply ability to recite at school exhibitions, but the ability to read distinctly and intelligently in the home circle.

So necessary do we deem the proper training of the reading and speaking voice, the acquisition of pure tone, clear and distinct enunciation, every pupil in the school is required to receive instruction in this art at least twice a week. The teacher in this department, Mrs. Belle McLeod Lewis, is possessed of unusual talent, both as a reader and as a teacher.

READING ROOM AND LIBRARY.

This room is provided with encyclopedias, dictionaries, and other books of reference, all the needed current literature of the day, tables, chairs, writing material, &c. A large, commodious, well-lighted room is set apart for this use.

Physical Culture.

A class in Physical Culture will be formed, to which each boarder will be expected to belong, unless especially excused by the Principal. The object of this class is to give to each part of the body that exercise which will best tend to its proper development. We must seek to maintain good health, if we hope to accomplish any creditable mental work.

It will be the daily and constant care of the teacher of Physical Culture to correct all faults of carriage and position in her pupils. The hollow chests, round shoulders, and awkward walk of many of our girls call loudly for diligent care in removing these unhealthy and unsightly faults.

TENNIS COURT.

Out of Door Amusements.

The lawn is large, affording ample space for tennis courts, basket ball and other forms of out-door amusement, in which our students engage with great zest.

Bicycling.

Any one who owns a wheel is advised to bring it with her. The drives through the lawn are excellent for wheeling, and as some teacher is easily found who is willing to accompany students, longer excursions may be indulged in.

BASKET-BALL GROUNDS.

Number of Boarders Limited.

The building accommodates forty student boarders after the family and school officers have been provided for.

To those who have had experience with boarding schools the advantages of a limited number are very apparent. The objectionable features of a boarding school are thus avoided, and a home life is made possible.

We can know our girls better and influence them for good in a way that is impossible where large numbers are congregated.

Home Care.

The health and home-needs of our students receive the most intelligent and sympathetic care. No officer of the school is better qualified by nature and attainment for her duties than is the Home-mother. Every girl in the school goes to her freely and at all times with whatever needs she may have, while the Home-mother exercises diligent and unremitting care for all that may pertain to the student's well being in the home.

Dress.

Simplicity of dress is insisted upon. We expect our students to dress as becomes school girls; elaborate toilets, jewels, face veils, etc., belong to a period which they have not yet reached.

Every parent should feel it not only a duty but also a privilege to co-operate with the Faculty in restraining extravagance and any tendency upon the part of their daughters to adopt prematurely a style of dress becoming only to mature women.

UNIFORM.

In the fall of 1897 our students will adopt a uniform made of dark blue cloth trimmed with narrow black silk braid. The style of making as well as the material will be uniform. Students should then wait until they come to school to get their uniforms. They can have their dresses made by dressmakers at the Institute at a cost of from four dollars to five dollars. The goods will cost not less than seventy-five cents per yard, nor more than one dollar. Oxford caps will be worn with the uniform. This costume will be the only one worn outside the premises by any student from the approach of cool weather in the fall until it gets too warm in the spring. Then the waist of the dress will be substituted by a blue silk waist worn with white collars, cuffs, and belt. The Oxford cap may be relieved by a white sailor.

NECESSARY ARTICLES.

Each boarder is expected to bring with her, in addition to a sufficient quantity of neat and comfortable clothing, a good umbrella, water proof cloak and a pair of overshoes.

Students must bring their own towels, napkins and toilet articles, a pair of sheets and pillow cases, and no article of clothing, which is to be washed, will be allowed to go to the laundry unless distinctly marked with the name of the owner.

OFFICERS OF ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION.

Announcement.

The Collegiate year commences Tuesday, September 7, 1897. The Institute will be open for the reception of students on Saturday, the 4th of September next. Those wishing to secure places for their daughters or wards, are advised to apply early in vacation.

Rooms may be engaged by applying to the Principal; but all engagements will expire on the first day of the session, unless we are directed to hold them at the expense of the party engaging.

We earnestly request day pupils in the College and Preparatory Departments to report on Monday, September 6, for classification.

Let all who design entering the Institute next session be present, if at all possible, at the first assembling of the school, Tuesday, September 7, as an absence of a week or two at that time will be felt seriously throughout the session. For further information address, (MISS) ALICE LLOYD, Principal.

PICTURESQUE PIGNING POINTS.

A favorite form of recreation with our students is pic-nic excursions to points of interest. We are within easy reach of Boonesboro, Marble Creek, Estill Springs, Big Hill, Mallory Springs, High Bridge and Shakertown, Natural Bridge and Torrent, passing through that spot of idyllic beauty—Indian Fields. Of course these excursions are accompanied with some little expense, ranging from fifty cents to one dollar and fifty cents. But the good obtained amply repays the cost. They are of incalculable value to students in the Science Department. In no other way can they learn so well Geography, Physical Geography, Geology, Botany, Mineralogy, etc. Many of our girls come from parts of the country wholly unlike the localities named, and they learn much on these excursions. Beside from the standpoint of pure, innocent, perfectly healthful, and delightful recreation nothing equals these outdoor parties. Unlike many forms of social diversion these communings with nature are followed by no bad effects. Spend less on candy, indigestible eatables, ribbons and spring hats and let your daughters have these healthful pleasures that will be a joy and delight as long as they have memories.

Religion.

All students of the Institute are required to attend daily morning prayers in the chapel, and all boarders are required to attend public services on Lord's day at the church of the denomination with which they or their parents are identified. All boarders will have an opportunity of attending Sunday-school in company with a member of the Faculty. Students will be expected to make their weekly contributions at whatever church they may attend. Young people can not too early learn that they are not to take something for nothing. Some contribution, however small, just what she would contribute in her home church, will be expected of each.

Discipline.

"Love worketh no ill to his neighbor, therefore love is the fulfilling of the law." This great principle shall be the basis of all our government. There is not a code of morals and manners for school girls other than that which is observed in every well regulated home. We have no arbitrary requirements, and we wish our pupils to feel that what we require of them we require in the name of right, and not in the name of school law. We wish to cultivate a conscience toward God rather than a conscience toward us or any lower power than the Supreme.

No young lady will be asked to do nor refrain from doing anything which does not either harm herself or infringe upon the rights of others.

As pupils do not come to us perfect in the knowledge of branches studied in the school room, neither do we expect them to have made perfect application of the great law: "As you would that men should do unto you, do ye even so unto them." This law must be applied in a school, as it is not necessary to apply it in the family, since the presence of larger numbers and the purpose which has brought them together, give rise to conditions that do not exist in the family.

We shall in all kindness, but with all firmness, seek to guide our pupils into the ways of right-doing.

A disposition on the part of a pupil to be wilfully unmindful of such regulations as are found needful for the general good will be the signal for her withdrawal.

Visiting.

General visiting will be discouraged. Students desiring to visit must present to the Principal, when asking her permission, written permission of their parents, and she will feel perfectly free to grant or refuse the request as her judgment may direct. The granting of all such privileges will be largely based on the good conduct of the student who makes the request.

Should ever her average in deportment, industry and punctuality for any given quarter fall below ninety-five, no student will be granted permission to make visits during the succeeding quarter. If, during the quarter the required average is regained, her privilege will be restored. The right of day pupils to entertain boarders in their homes is conditioned upon the same consideration.

The friends of students are requested to make their calls, as far as possible, on Saturday afternoon or out of school hours.

Students will not be dismissed from the recitation room to see visitors, except friends or relatives from a distance.

Strangers to the Principal, other than near relatives, proposing to call on students must present letters of introduction from the parent or guardian of the young ladies, and such visitors will be admitted at the option of the Principal.

When our students appear on the street for any reason, whether attending church, shopping or for any other purpose, they are attended by a chaperone.

Parental Co-Operation.

To prosecute the work of education successfully, the teacher must have the fullest and heartiest support and co-operation of patrons. If the teacher be not fitted by learning and experience to carry on the work which he undertakes, he should not be patronized. If, however, the parents are satisfied of the teacher's ability to discharge the responsible duties which he assumes, then they should give him their earnest and heartiest support. By so doing, they will greatly aid in the education of their children, and will assist in developing that true respect for law and order which is a safeguard to all, and especially to the young.
